

While sitting in my bed looking at the really cold breeze from my enormous window

Icy cold winds racing through my hair

Never should have crossed the boundaries of going outside

The rain howling and cracking on the tin roof

Eating tomato soup to warm me up inside

Ridiculously cold and shivering all-over