

The Door Slowly opened:

The door slowly opened as Jim returns from a long day at work, just to sit down have a cigarette and talk to his lovely wife Velma.

The door Slowly opened as Jim comes home from work to sit down have another cigarette as Velma is up at the kitchen making a batch of her donuts.

The door slowly opened as Jim returned from another long day at work, sits down to have another cigarette whilst on the phone to his son Graham.

The door slowly opened as Jim comes home to have another cigarette while Velma is watching the news. Jim gets up to cough into a tissue but what he sees is worrying.

The door slowly opens as Jim comes home from another day at work and has another cigarette and he gets up this time his cough is endless ending up rushed into emergency.

The door slowly opened as Jim is told by doctor his chances of survival are not good.

The door slowly opens as Jim's son Graham watches as doctor's frantically work to restart Jim's heart.

As the final door opens Jim has closed his eyes for the final time.....

He now is at heavens gates.

We love and miss you Jimmy.xo
