

Dreaming

I like it. When my dad tells me about my culture. He tells me storys about baime the creator. Dad told me that baime made all the green grass, mountalns and the sky. Dad also told me that the rain bow serpent made all the river and lakes. Dad teaches me to be proud to be aboriginal. I wrote my own acknowledgments of country. I spoke about what my country means to me and how I want evry one to look after and protect this land from the ocean to the mountains and evry thing in between.

When my family go to the beach my dad shows me bush tucker and he shows me all different bush tucker. We collected pipis and dad caught worms for bait so I we can go fishing. My dad goes diving for abalone. I love going camping with my family and learning about my culture and country.
